

Program Outcomes

Graduates of an EMS program will be eligible to sit for the corresponding National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians (NREMT) licensure exam. Once the graduate passes the national exam, they may be licensed by a state to which an application has been made. When a graduate has been licensed, they may practice to their licensed level in the state their license is granted. There is a credentialing exam for each level-EMR, EMT, AEMT, and Paramedic.
